 165,661,706	I am just beginning my search into this type of community. I am single and my children grown and away. I do need a social environment that is active in outdoor activities but also I enjoy night life to an extent.	Saturday, Oct 29th 12:07PM
 165,661,658	Safe and affordable, well maintained with plenty of outdoor activities. Close to shopping, healthcare and town with restaurants and cultural events.	Saturday, Oct 29th 12:04PM

 165,659,211	The HOA and the rules and regs. are sometimes not worth it.	Saturday, Oct 29th 11:04AM
 165,658,685	I recently looked at several communities in NC that are not age restricted but seem to have mostly mature folks who are probably retired or close to retirement. The home styles are perfect, there are amenities but not these huge clubhouses, golf courses, etc. I don't use them and don't want to pay for them.	Saturday, Oct 29th 10:50AM
 165,658,376	While rules are important, some HOA rules are ridiculously stringent. e.g. I'm not a gardener but I find it crazy that approval is needed if i want to plant a daisy.	Saturday, Oct 29th 10:37AM
 165,658,122	I live in Newtown, PA and they are not building affordable 55 housing with some of the above amenities anywhere even a little close to this location.	Saturday, Oct 29th 10:32AM

 165,656,761	Eventually will move to 55+ community but probably mid-later 60s. Worried in early 60s we'll be too young. Would love a place that we didn't feel 20 years younger. Also really want to live near restaurants, boutique shops so we can walk or bike.	Saturday, Oct 29th 9:43AM
 165,656,685	Something that encourages interaction but doesn't force it	Saturday, Oct 29th 9:41AM

 165,656,107	Looked at many 55+ communities. Looks like resort style living, nice, but not how I see spending the next 25+ years.	Saturday, Oct 29th 9:21AM
 165,656,034	I like the look of the developments that are being built but I would like developers to build for a broader range of retirees. We are a HUGE group and we need a range of pricing choices in order to enjoy a quality retirement. We shouldn't have to choose between the half million dollar house or the mobile home park. Thank you for asking!	Saturday, Oct 29th 9:12AM
 165,655,966	Question #5. #1 is fitness center	Saturday, Oct 29th 9:19AM
 165,655,706	An active adult community with a variety of amenities and clubs (not just golf and card games), near a larger city (i.e. preferably 150,000+) with many events, cultural activities, a variety of ethnic restaurants and an international airport.	Saturday, Oct 29th 9:01AM

 165,654,921	Need more 55+ communities in MS. Need to have indoor heated pool, place for gathering, community garden, no need for a golf course as many around area. Also, 1 story , level walking/biking trails, exercise classes, bring in featured speakers to the gathering places, etc.	Saturday, Oct 29th 8:29AM
 165,654,765	I love the focus on physical activities, but would also like to find communities with an equally strong focus on creative/arts activities and continuous learning activities. Joy and growth come in many forms.	Saturday, Oct 29th 8:24AM
 165,654,631	Stairs, silly amenities like gazebos, HOAs in existing communities being built near me. Would like some sort of lock and go arrangement. A low rise, not more than three stories, condo with parking so you could drive to the level of your unit, with a fitness center, walking trails, and the opportunity not mandate, to interact with neighbors.	Saturday, Oct 29th 8:24AM
 165,654,214	I would love to see a rural active adult community that allows RVs. Ideally it would have walking trails and a community center.	Saturday, Oct 29th 8:09AM

 165,653,772	Stand alone single story homes in wooded area in New England, with smaller yards, but at least 30 feet between homes. Prices between $200-300k, fees less than $150/month. Indoor pool and exercise are a plus (could be a membership charge - no kids in pool!). In other words nirvana.	Saturday, Oct 29th 7:50AM
 165,653,692	All the amenities of active adult communities, clubs, social events, & activities director but not age restricted. Our children will still be in college & may need to live with us for a time.	Saturday, Oct 29th 7:46AM

 165,651,103	Close proximity to medium size city to take advantage of medical, restaurants, shopping, etc.	Saturday, Oct 29th 5:56AM
 165,650,831	My ideal community would have a large variety of amenities, for those preferring a more sedentary lifestyle, and those who still can be active, but it would not cater to golfers. Would also prefer a newer community, as I will be a younger retiree, and would prefer to be with people who are mostly equally active and capable at this time.	Saturday, Oct 29th 5:41AM
